

Lecture

GRASPING ANTHROPOLOGY

In search of ikat

October 5, 2016, 06.00 - 08.00 p.m.

The wonderful ikat cloths from Eastern Indonesia and Timor Leste have not yet taken their definite place in the new exhibition, giving us the chance to inspect them from close up, just two weeks before the show Striking Patterns officially opens. The two curators tell of their search for the right pieces and present to the audience new as well as old examples of this vibrant form of textile art.

Willemijn de Jong and Richard Kunz, curators of the exhibition Striking Patterns, in discussion with Sabine Rotach > in german

Entrance fee

Link to "Grasping anthropology"

