

Grasping anthropology – Guided tour of the exhibitions “BIG” and “Thirst for knowledge meets collecting mania”

VALUES IN TIMES OF UNCERTAINTY

4 November 2020, 18:00 - 19:30 PM

In times of uncertainty, values tend to undergo changes. Some things become unimportant, others gain in significance. Values are often also associated with precious objects such as a roll of feather money from the Solomon Islands or a Maori feather cloak. But what makes an object valuable? On a tour through the exhibitions, we discuss the question of cultural valuation with the help of selected exhibits.
