EXHIBITION

Enlightened – The Realm of the Buddhas

extended until 22 January 2023

“Learn to let go. That is the key to happiness.”
Siddharta Gautama

For decades, the appeal of Buddhism in Europe has continued unbroken. Mindfulness and meditation exercises are not only practised up and down the country, they have also conquered the digital world. In addition, you find Buddhas everywhere: in living rooms, in gardens, and in wellness spas.

The Museum der Kulturen Basel is signing up to this enthusiasm and putting on an exhibition that imparts in-depth knowledge on the Buddha and his teachings. Assorted exhibits from the museum's collections reveal the great and rich diversity of Buddhism and its associated practices. Visitors encounter more than fifty Buddhas and learn about the meaning of the different representations in a meditative environment that allows them to contemplate the roughly 280 objects in peace and quiet while providing time for reflection at the same time.

In addition, the digital “Enlightened” offers an interactive experience, which tells you online why the Buddha looks the way he does: erleuchtet.mkb.ch
